Life at

Martin is a mosaic

Each day at Martin is a block toward the completion of our mosaic, a mosaic constructed in a delicate pattern of happiness, loneliness, discouragement, and triumph.

Each square is a separate mood, a feeling we created or found here at Martin: the beauty of our gently rolling campus, the exciting spirit at ball-games, the breathlessness of hurrying to and from classes, the moving rhythm of dancing feet.

Our mosaic is rich in its associations and memories — remembering our first year at Martin when everything, now so familiar, was strange and confusing.

Our mosaic has color. Each section reflects the colors at Martin — the red brick buildings, the sturdy white columns, the red and white at games, and the green of our stately trees.

The most impressive part of our mosaic is its endurance — the lasting friendships, the useful knowledge. In the 1963 MARTINAIRE, we have conceived and we present a mosaic design of our college life — the memories we have of Martin.

MEMORIES OF MARTIN

FRESHMEN INITIATION

Part of every freshman's experience is that of being a "Kiddie". For one specially designated day, all first-year students don kiddie garb and obey the mighty sophomores. That evening, after a hard day's activities, the kiddies are honored at a party, where they play games and attend Kangaroo Court, the place of reckoning for non-obedient freshmen.

Here's the long and the short of it.

"Our Gang" rides again!

What do you mean they're too heavy?

A fellow needs a strong back (and a weak mind).

Hail to their Majesties!

How many wieners make a foot?

Let's promenade through Kiddieland!

Boy, what a party!

Here she comes – Timberrrrr!

We Meet New People and See New Sights

Welcome to Tennessee Hall!

Mr. Gray, meet the President!

Families and faculty meet.

Now meet the President's lady!

A hostess serves her guest.

Will this line never end?

Eight tries and I still haven't worked out my schedule!

Pulaski in the snow

Sam Davis monument

First Methodist Church

Court House Square

Locked out again?

Would you look at that!!

Kill that bug!

Unhand my clothes!

Life in Tennessee Hall is anything but dull. Studies provide a break between chasing insects and observing the activities on the front porch. Occasionally a shower thief must be apprehended or a door unlocked — the hard way. Tradition takes a hand when a girl begins going steady, she gets a free trip to the nearest shower, complete with clothes. Engagements call for tub dunkings. When those finals come though, lessons are resumed in earnest and all is quiet.

AT HOME IN

Is this a dorm or a zoo?

TENNESSEE HALL

What will we ever do if tennis shoes go out of style?

Come on, give me my dime!!

She's getting her hair fixed all right!

Do you see what I see??

WHERE THE BOYS ARE

Martin's men students, like their coed classmates, have their lighter moments in the dormitories.

Freshmen and Sophomores congregate in bull sessions, set new records for staying up late, and borrow each other's high school jackets. It is understood that the boys sometimes have a few hours of study.

Oh no, I slept through chapel again!

But I don't want to visit the boys' dorm!

Everybody who's anybody must learn the UT!

How is this for a friendly game of Old Maids?

Fix it Warren,
We want to see Huckleberry hound!

Heigh-ho, heigh-ho--It's off to wash we go!

Is this a fight or is this a fight?

WE HAVE FUN
TOGETHER

Don't panic, Jana, we can get a blowtorch!

Notice the style, the form,
the grace

Do you want to ride, dollie?

Martin's size and atmosphere make possible a closely-knit student body. Throughout the school year, the campus serves as home for a student family that works and plays together. Sports activities, social and welfare projects, and wholesome informal recreation are all important aspects of daily activities.

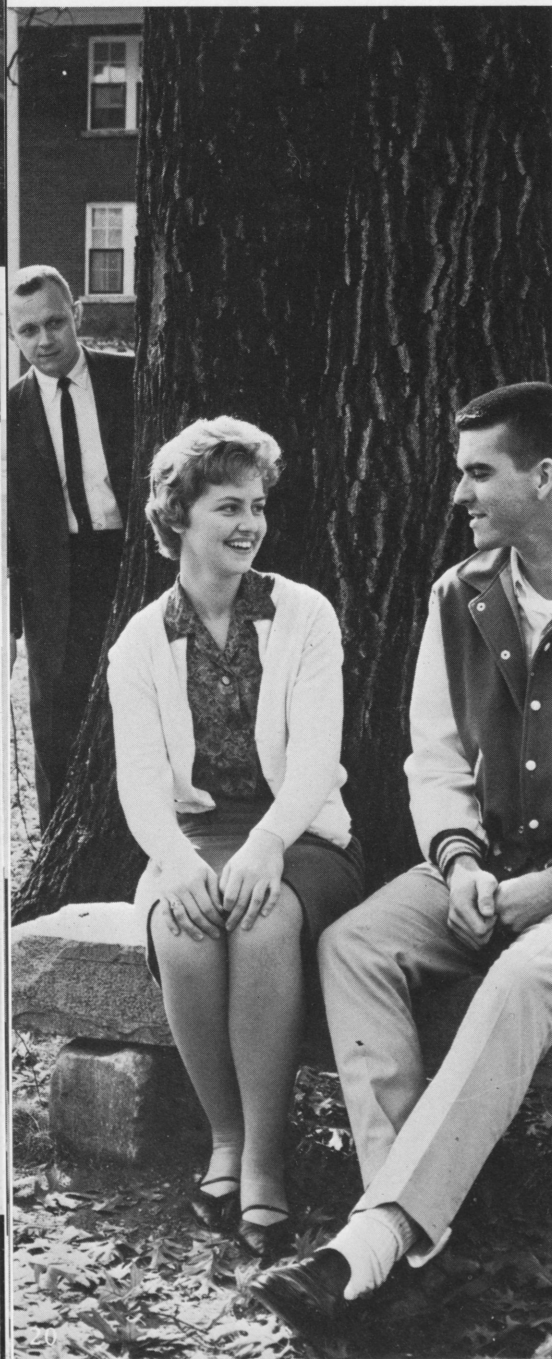

I'm walking along my merry way

Now what have you got — LOCOMOTIVE!!

Let's twist again!

Be careful what you say and do,
'cause Mr. White is watching you!

How many more thousand streamers are there to put up?

Mama says hello to Peggy, Lynn,
Janie, Faye ...

We would go, but our Mommie says we're too young to date.

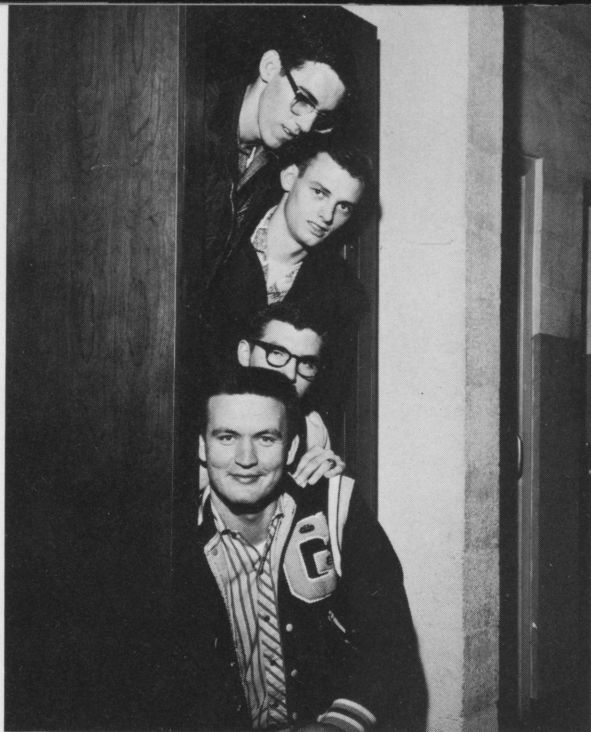

Where's the nearest U-Haul-It?

That was a good one, Mr. White!

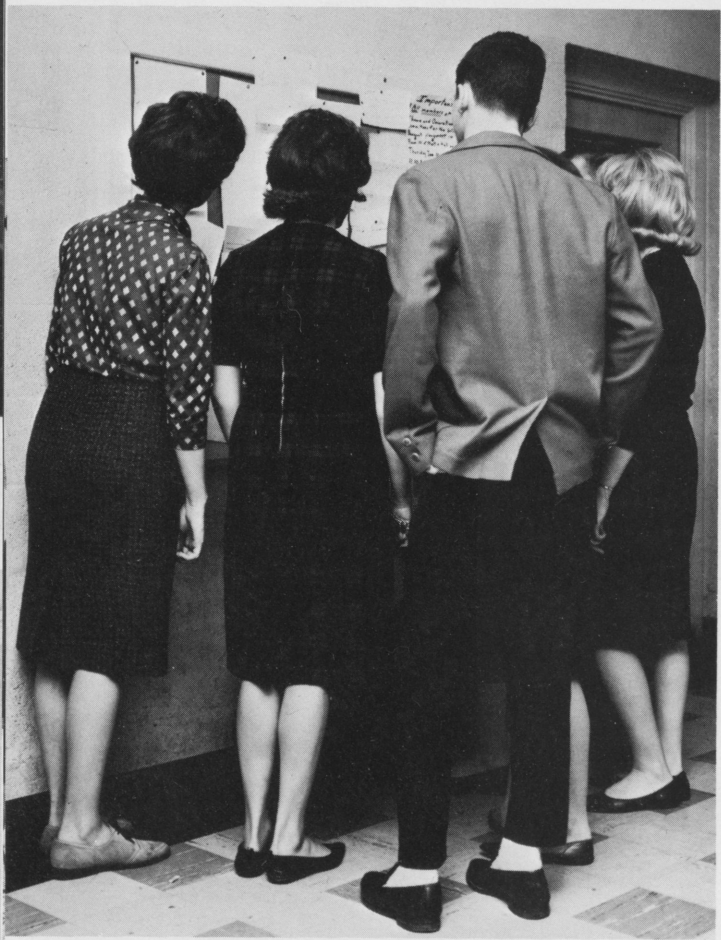

Wonder if I could change my major to Home Ec?

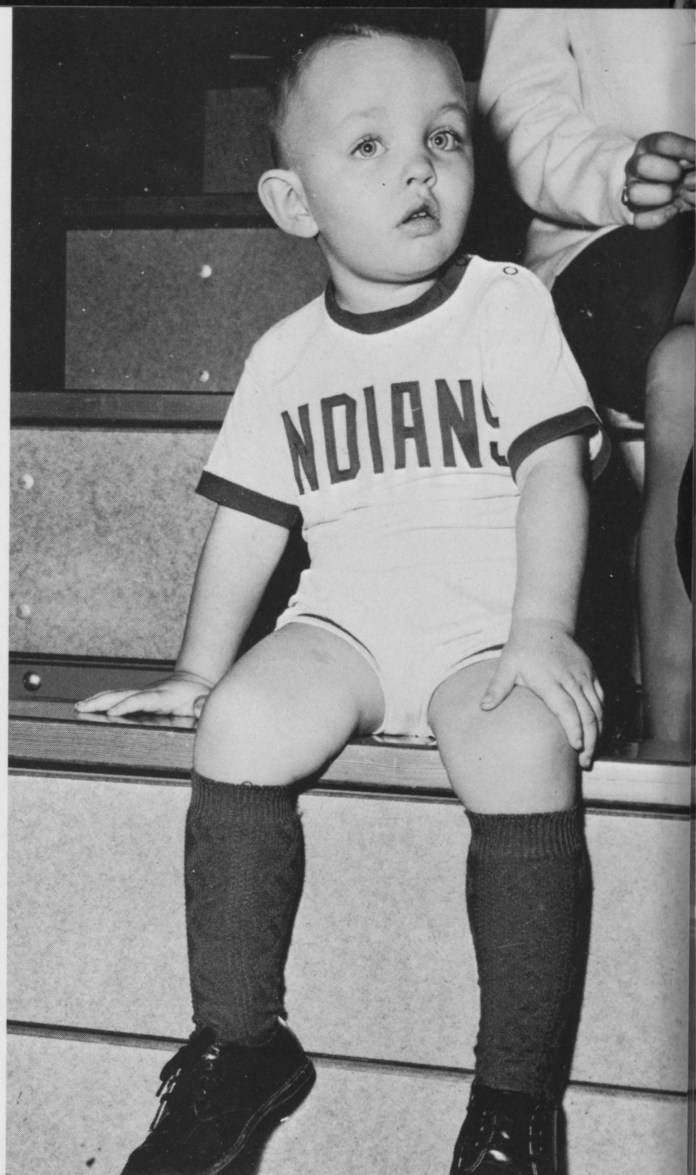

Meet Martin's version of a totem pole!

FLASH!! Psychology scores are posted!

Martin's "Mad Scientist" strikes again!

I still don't understand why I can't play first string!

WE MEET... EACH OTHER

They were high school sweethearts.

Mama told me about girls like you!

Let's have a friendly soda.

They're setting the date.

Leadership

OUR PRESIDENT

Prior to being appointed to the position of President of Martin College, Reverend W. C. Westenberger and his family made their home in Tullahoma, where he was pastor of the Tullahoma First Methodist Church.

The president and "George" relax by the fire.

The Boychoir conducts annual concert tours throughout the United States and Canada. Their nation-wide tour includes appearances at New York's Carnegie and Town Halls, Radio City Music Hall, and Madison Square Garden.

Last minute polishing for the concert is made on a stage set up for an opera.

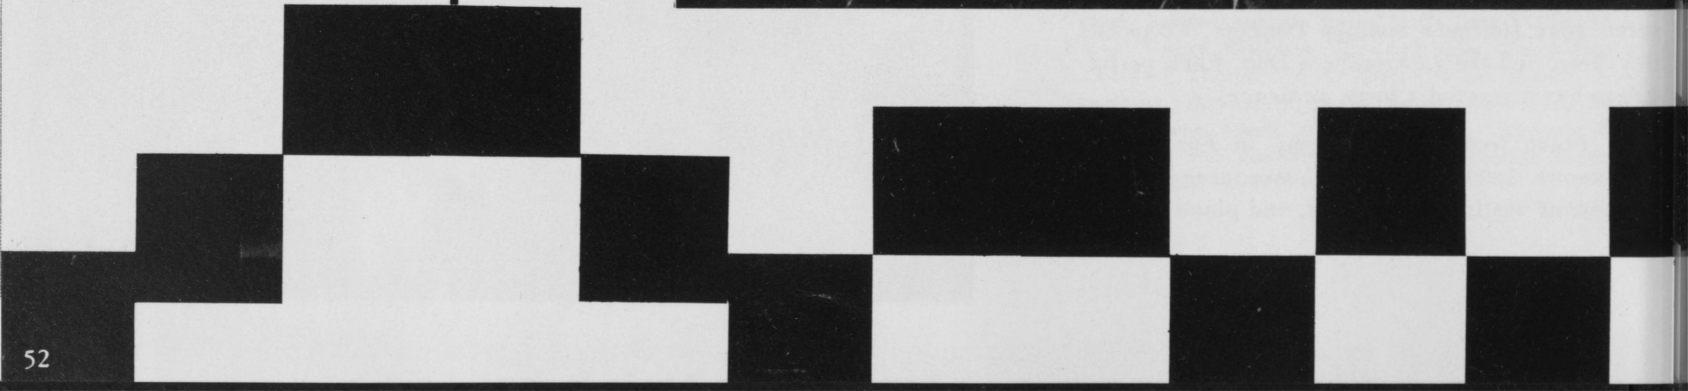

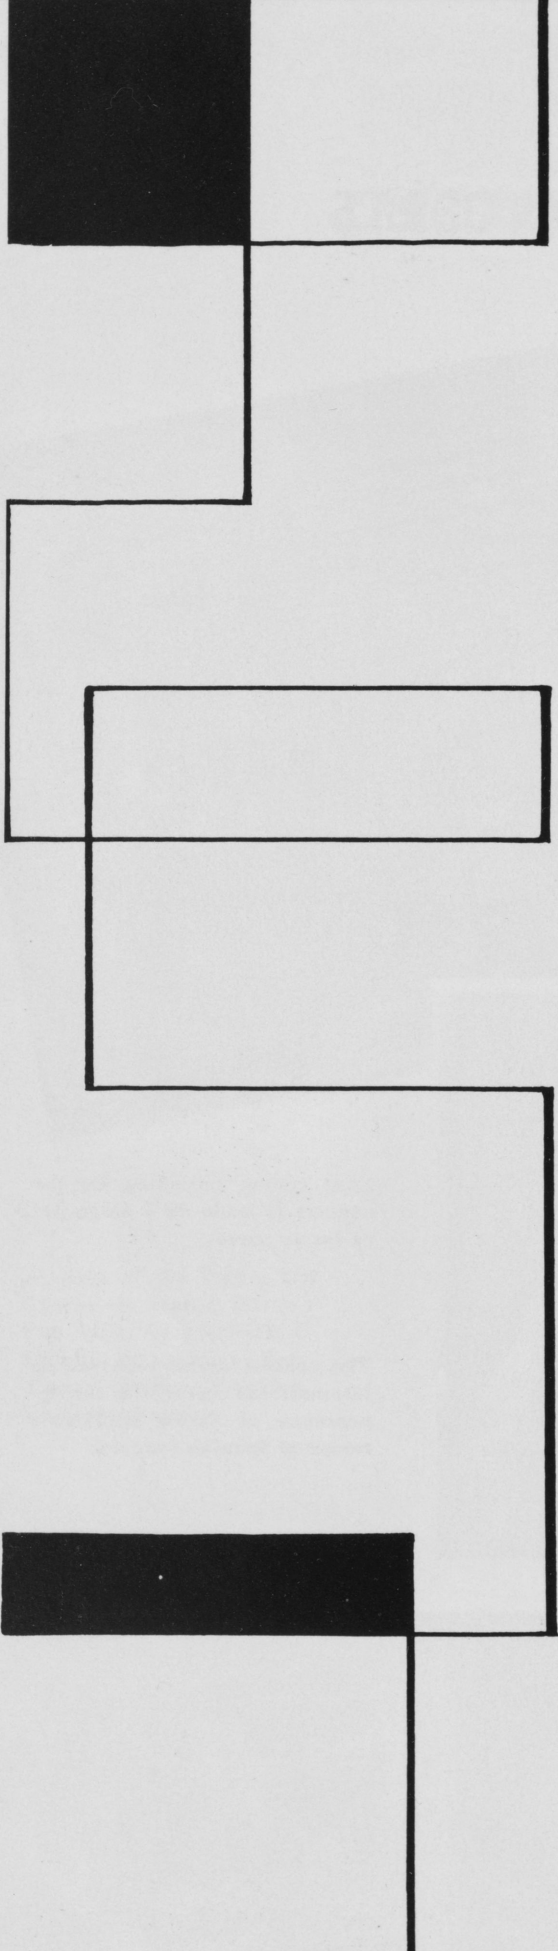

The concert series received an international flavor with the appearance of Jose Molina's troupe of Spanish dancers.

Martin College's cultural life is enriched by the Mutual Concert Association. This association provides musical entertainment for the college students and Giles County citizens. Martin College makes a monetary contribution to the Mutual Concert Association, entitling all students to attend the concerts free.

This season the Concert Association sponsored Jose Molina's Spanish Dancers, Columbus Boychoir, and the Lucktenberg Duo. Each performance has attracted a large audience.

Fresh from their triumphs in Europe, the well-known Lucktenberg Duo entertained with a program of violin, harpsichord, and piano music.

THIS YEAR IN SPORTS

Martin College again this year had a great record in sports. Riding the crest of the Dixie Conference basketball and tennis championships, the Indians kept the tide rolling. Our basketball, tennis, and baseball all enjoyed rewarding seasons. Golf was added as an intercollegiate sport this year for the first time in the history of the college. Team and student spirit was at a peak. The student body gave our teams the maximum support at all times.

This spirit carried over into the intramural program. The program, under the capable leadership of Coach Kermit Smith, was received most enthusiastically by our students. Football, basketball, shuffleboard, badminton, volleyball, softball, ping pong are the intramural sports students may participate in. With participation, students receive points. The student with the most points at the end of the year is rewarded with the coveted J. Clay Walker Memorial Award.

Spirit and Success describes the pride and attitude Martin students have for the total athletic program.

Coach Kermit Smith is in his twelfth year at Martin College. Before taking his present position as athletic director, he served as varsity coach. He received his B. A. degree from College of the Ozarks and his M. A. from George Peabody College.

Now serving as president of the Dixie Conference, he has raised the prestige of Martin College athletics higher than ever before. Coach Smith is co-ordinator of Dixie Conference activities. Besides these responsibilities, he is instructor of women's physical education and health and is the coach of the varsity tennis and golf teams. A more energetic worker for Martin College will not be found.

In his second year at Martin College, Coach Earle again is guiding the Indians on the basketball court and the baseball field. He came to Martin College after several years of successful high school coaching in the mid-state area. Coach Earle was graduated from Martin College and Middle Tennessee State College, where he was a star basketball player. Coach Earle did his graduate work at M.T. S.C. Besides coaching, the amiable coach is instructor of men's physical education, personal hygiene, and community health and is proctor of the men's dormitory. His success at Martin is due to hard work and the faith and admiration his athletes place in him.

CHAMPIONS DEFEND TITLE

1962 was a profitable year for the Indians. Coach Earle led the team to its first Dixie Conference Championship in the history of the school. The outlook for this season is very bright as the returning sophomores and a fine crop of freshmen seek the title for the second straight time.

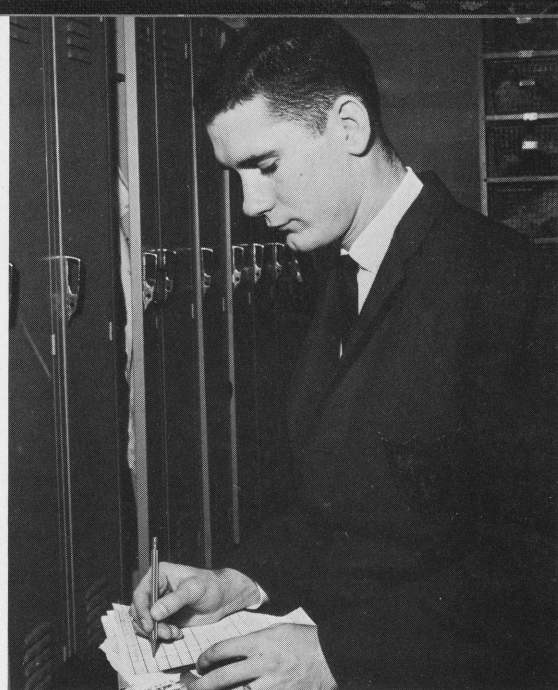

Dixie Conference President Kermit Smith presents the championship trophy to President Westenberger, Coach Earle, and Donnie Newman, Team Captain.

Dixie Conference Champions
 LAWRENCE WONG — MARSHALL PFITZER

Last season the Martin College tennis team captured the Dixie Conference Championship. In doing this the Indians literally ran their opponents off the court. This season things will not be too bright since all but one of last season's stars graduated. But Coach Smith will field a team of promising freshmen who will fill the graduates' shoes and will bring home another net crown for the Indians.

I dare you to do that again!

Kent McNish, James Ennis, Dwight Herd, James McLaughlin, Robert Taylor, Mr. Smith, Coach.

GOLF

For the first time in the history of Martin College, an intercollegiate golf team will compete in the Dixie Conference. Prospects for this year's team are very promising with several top flight prep golfers on the team as the interest in this sport grows.

Eddie, do you think you will like it when you learn how?
